“I for one want to live in a community that cherishes people. This type of love changes companies. I want companies like Lifeworks to be in my community. I want companies that support Lifeworks to be the ones who build everything around us.”

“That change that Lifeworks made with us, and that Tom and Joe brought in, has made a change in us beyond anything I can tell you. We were 20 white, geeky males in a tech company. Today, we’re 200 plus with 45% diversity. We have every race, color, gender, and it has all started by companies like Lifeworks building a community that I want to be a part of.”

“Atomic from the beginning has believed that charity work should not be held until we reach the pinnacle, but that it should be done now. I challenge anyone out there running a business not to make it the end, but to make it the path.”

- Jim Wolford
